

A Vision For The Future

“It’s time that we – as the people of the Arctic Slope – leverage our human strength and financial resources to make positive changes to the social struggles facing our communities.

My vision for the future is an Arctic where we address our social challenges with the same vigor and determination as we do our subsistence rights, land management and economic challenges. One where we are all positive role models for our youth and they, in turn, for the next generation of Arctic leaders.”
